Concerts for the choir were arranged for in most of the large cities of the east. Arrangements were made for a thirty-day trip, and Mr. Pyper said that it would have been very easy to arrange for a trip, thirty days longer. Famous Body of Singers Will Grave Question Raised as to Legality of Action by the County Attorney.

> Developments piled up rapidly yesterday the case of the alleged disappearance in the case of the alleged disappearance of about $5000 worth of diamonds from the "valuables" check room at Saltair on the afternoon of August 7. Riley M. Beckstead, captain of detectives, announced last night that he had sufficient evidence to try Charles Scott Cunningham on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the disappearance of the diamonds if it were proved that the gems were actually checked at the "valuables" window.

A development in the case which caused comment was the releasing of Cunningham last night on an order from Harry S. Harper, justice of the peace, on instructions from the county attorneys office—a procedure which a number of prominent local attorneys believe to be illegal and without authority, while others consider it lawful. Those attorneys who expressed themselves last night to the effect that the action was unlawful allege that the $1000 bond given by Cunningham is not worth the paper upon which it is written.

Captain Beckstead said that he had explained the nature of the evidence against Cunningham in his possession yesterday to N. U. S. C. Jensen, first assistant county attorney and that early in the afternoon Mr. Jensen had signified his willingness to issue a complaint against Cunningham. Captain Beckstead, howafter, after Mr. Jensen had interviewed the prisoner and talked the matter over with Parley P. One of the best known lawyers in the city said last night that as long as no complaint had been issued against Cunningnam the case was entirely out of the jurisdiction of any justice of the peace or the tounty attorney. He said that neither Justice Harper nor the county attorney's office knew whether Cunningham was charged or was to be charged with nurder or petty larceny. He said also that the bond given by Cunningham was absolutely worthless and was not worth the paper on which it was written.

Police Gather Evidence.

After the sheriff's office had spent a week working on the diamond mystery and obtained no results, Captain Beckstead of the police department ordered the arrest of Cunningham on evidence which his men had collected. Captain Beckstead said last night that he had witnesses to corroborate the statement of C. Y. Russell, the checking clerk at Saltair, to the effect that Cunningham reclaimed the package containing the alleged diamonds about thirty minutes after they had been deposited. The captain said that he also had a witness who would testify that she heard a conversation between Trixle Mills, a woman of Cunningham's acquaintance, and Cunningham on the day the diamonds were alleged to have been lost, in which Cunningham said that he had a couple of 'live ones' and intended to turn a big trick that day.

SUGAR PRICES SOAR

Sugar is still soaring in the east on account of the continued drouth in the beet sugar fields of Germany and a corresponding increase in price has been made in the local market. The local whole-sale price on beet sugar is $6.10 per hundred and of cane sugar $6.30. The retail price is close to $7 per hundred, the highest for several years.

A heavy sugar crop is reported in lower California and a fair one in the nurthern part of the state. The Utah and Idaho factories promise to break all records. The intense heat will cut the Colorado crop short.

The beet sugar factory at Bay City, Mich. will run five months this year, beginning September 20, instead of three or three and a half months, as usual because of a large yield there.

Serious apprehension is feit, however, on account of the drouth in Germany since it may force the sugar growers of the United States to go to Russia for their seed next year.

MEXICAN IS CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY

He is charged with stealing one watch, one miner's gold pin and one chatelaine watch pin, valued at $75, from Mrs. M. Chaves, rear of 351 South State street. The complaint alleges that Gateros, with a number of his friends, visited the home of Mrs. Chaves Saturday afternoon and enjoyed her hospitality. LIVERY STABLE FIRE IS QUICKLY CHECKED

There was a fire yesterday afternoon in one of the stables of the Iowa Livery company, rear of 129 West South Temple street which, had it not been immediately checked by the timely arrival of the fire department, might have resulted in great loss, as there are many frame buildings adjoining.

The cause of the fire is unknown. The building contained hay and horses, in all valued at $3000. The roof of the building was destroyed and a portion of the hay. The horses were all saved. The total loss is estimated at $30.

For the purpose of going over the levies made by the various counties of the state for road improvement work, the state road commission held a meeting in the governor's office Monday aftermoon. In practically all of the counties which have been heard from the 5-mill levy, as permitted by the state law has been made, which will realize a good sum for state highway improvement work. Several counties yet to be heard from will materially swell the fund.

Much work is now being done on state roads and more will be under way as soon as the board learns just how much money it has on its hands. The members of the board expected to meet with Governor William Spry Monday afternoon, but the governor was unavoidably detained from his office.

quickest method of affording relief and accomplishing recovery. This condenser room is the place where the gas is "scrubbed and washed." to use the phrase employed by the manufacturers themselves. Here the air is heavily impregnated with the fumes of coal tar, ammonia and suiphur, although not to the extent as to render it harmful to any person in a normal condition of health, not even to an infant only a few weeks of age. Dr. S. G. Paul, city physician, corroborates the claims made for the curative properties of these fumes and declared last night that anyone suffering from whooping cough or bronchitis would be at once relieved and most probably quickly cured by spending a few hours a day in the atmosphere of this room. Dr. A. C. Wheerry, a well-known local dentist, has a son aged 7 years who suffered from an aggravated case of whooping cough. He took the boy to the gas plant and detained him for a brief period daily for several days in the condenser room. Abatement of the violence of the coughing paroxyisms was at once noted and the child's recovery was ranid. In view of the prevalency of whooping cough in the city at the present time and the annoyance and inconvenience experienced when the disease is allowed to "run its course," which is often of three months' duration, citizens will appreciate the offer of the Utah Gas & Coke company allowing any one to bring their children to the plant for free "treatment." as specified. the matter by the engineering and sew age committee in the afternoon ,the city nuncil last evening sustained Mayor John S. Bransford's veto of the order providing for the paving of North Main street ing for the paving of North Main street and Center street with bitulithic paving and instructed the city recorder to advertise notice of intention for all kinds of asphalted concrete paving, including the bitulithic.

The city council several weeks ago ordered the work done with the bitulithic pavement on the petition of the property owners, but Mayor Bransford did not approve the action, owing to the fact that subsequent protests were received from property owners, and he desired to give them a hearing in the matter. Also, he was in favor of specifying the number of inches instead of "standard thickness."

The property owners were heard yesterday afternoon and after a lengthy discussion it was agreed that it would be better to advertise for all kinds of asphalted-concrete paving, in that the advertisement for the bitulithic might eliminate competition, as one firm has a patent on the material. This resulted in the mayor's veto being sustained last night and the council deciding to permit the advertisement to call for all kinds of asphalted-concrete paving.

After a discussion of an hour and a half, which included the introduction of numerous petitions and resolutions in favor of and against the enlarging of the soloon district, the whole matter was referred to the city attorney for an opinion as to whether or not the council under the new liquor law has the province to enlarge the district so as to include the Salt Palace grounds, the fair grounds and the Warm Springs. The opinion will come up with Councilman Fernstrom's proposed ordinance covering the provisions of the new state law next Monday night.

Council M. E. Mulvey recently intro-duced a resolution providing for the in-creasing of the district to take in the three places, but it was the off-hand opinion of the attorney's office that it would be contrary to the new law. A petition was presented Monday night, signed by a score of the prominent business men of the city, asking that the district be so increased as to include the Selt Pales. Salt Palace grounds.

Salt Palace grounds.

A communication was received from Land and Water Commissioner Frank Matthews calling attention to the dilabidated condition of certain spillways and flumes in Big and Little Cottonwood canyons and recommending that immediate action be taken by the council with reference to remedying these conditions. The communication was in answer to a resolution of Councilman J. W. McKinney, asking for information as to why there was an insufficiency of water in the Salt Lake and Jordan canal. This matter was referred to the public grounds and waterways committee.

San Pedro harbor. We went as far as the great breakwater at the entrance to the outer harbor and also went all over the inner harbor, visiting all of its wathe outer harbor and also went all over the inner harbor, visiting all of its water connections.

It has been five years since I had previously visited San Pedro harbor and I declare that I have never known of such marvelous improvements to be wrought in such a short space of time. There is now thirty feet of water over the bar at the entrance to the inner harbor and at wharf frontage. At the upper end of the inner harbor the government is dredging out a large turning basin. Large quantities of land are being created by this dredging toward the outer harbor and as a resuit of the improvements several hundred acres are being reclaimed from the ocean. It is impossible to describe the importance of the improvements at San Pedro harbor.

All of these improvements are being made in anticipation of the completion of the Panama canal. This harbor will be ready for the vast amount of commerce incident to the opening of the canal. For the work at San Pedro harbor and Terminal island the Salt Lake Route is largely responsible.

The Salt Lake Route appears to have a brilliant future despite the vicinsitudes occasioned by numerous washouts. The road is now doing a handsome business and the general opinion appears to be that the business will increase constantly. It is the shortest line from the intermountain states to Los Angeles has improved far beyond my comprehension.
